ceiling, has forced GSA to rely on the utilization of contract guards. After explaining their genuine dilemma, the GSA officials were informed that this Agency strongly opposes the use of contract guards who, in addition to being known to be an inferior lot, have no law enforcement authority powers. We also indicated that, in addition to the other factors, the cost to clear such a large number of contract guards would be exorbitant. The GSA officials accepted our position. However, we did agree to a survey of all current FPO posts for the purpose of determining whether a reduction in manpower might be in order.

During this reporting period, representatives of the Division rendered security support for 15 hearings at Capitol Hill where the DCI and other senior Agency officials testified before various Senate and House of Representatives Committees.

A representative of the Division utilized his expertise in dactylogy during two and one-half working days of this reporting period when he provided support to the Office of Personnel during the EOD processing and to the Office of Security during the polygraph examination of a deaf mute.

In conformance with Executive Order 11807, copies of the Occupational Safety and Health Act, Executive Order 11807, Safety and Health Provisions for Federal Employees, and the Safety and Health Standards were forwarded to the field facilities of PSI/OS and FRD/DDO for reference by employees. The OP/DDA and DCD/DDO field facilities were previously provided copies of these documents.
